BIOGRAPHY

Jerry Lackey received a Bachelor and Master of Music Education from Indiana University and began teaching instrumental music in South Bend in 1965. He directed the IUSB Jazz Ensemble from 1974 to 2007 and Wind Ensemble from 1984 to 2007. Lackey played tuba 42 years with the South Bend Symphony until retiring in 2007. He has written many compositions and arrangements which have been performed and recorded by major orchestras and bands including 4 CDs by Houston Symphony, Utah Symphony and Rochester Philharmonic. His Jazz Concerto for Tuba and Orchestra has been performed by the St. Louis Symphony and Tokyokosei Wind Orchestra in addition to other orchestras and bands. Now living in Nashville, Tennessee, Jerry is the associate conductor of the Nashville Community Concert Band and continues to compose and arrange for bands, orchestras and other ensembles.
